

BUCKLING KIT

REFERENCE : EX150C1

The EX150C1 buckling kit, which complements the EX150 tension-bending bench, allows the study of beam buckling. The system provided makes it possible to study the influence of the conditions at the supports on the buckling: articulated or flush support, central support or deported. The kit includes test pieces of different materials, with different thicknesses for each material.

Non contractual photo

SERVICE :